

CONCLUSION

As you can see, the work of the Arizona U.S. Attorney's staff greatly impacts each tribal community in Arizona. Nonetheless, without the cooperative efforts of tribal, state and federal law enforcement our work would not have a significant impact. While the information provided in this year's Indian Country Report may paint a bleak picture, I remain energized by the increasing cooperative efforts of these law enforcement agencies to address violent crime when it arises in Arizona's Indian communities. I also remain encouraged by the prevention programs and methods being implemented at the local level by Arizona's tribal governments. Be assured that I, and my staff will continue our commitment to work with you on these important matters.

This publication is available through the Office of the United States Attorney. Please contact Diane Humetewa, Senior Litigation Counsel/Tribal Liaison, at (602) 514-7500 or 1-800-800-2570 for a copy. Or write: U.S. Attorney's Office, Two Renaissance Square, 40 N. Central Avenue, Suite 1200, Phoenix, AZ 85004-4408.